

Karin Marsolais
Chief Administrative Officer

Biography

Karin Marsolais joined The Preuss School UC San Diego in 2012 to serve as Chief Administrative Officer. She has responsibility for data reporting, finance, human resources, facilities, information technology, and prepares reports for internal and external audits, as well as for a variety of local, state, and federal agencies.

Ms. Marsolais is a graduate of UC San Diego and completed its Teacher Education Program, working in bilingual and special education classrooms before serving in Student Financial Services, Linguistics, and as associate director at CCARTA, a unit within the Department of Psychiatry. As an English Learner, immigrant, and first-in-family to graduate college, her passion is to support Preuss students and their families in their quest for college entrance and completion. Her current career goal is to ensure the sustainability of The School's mission. In addition to Preuss, she and her husband, also a UC San Diego graduate, have supported the Challenged Athletes Foundation, Habitat for Humanity, The Nature Conservancy, UC's Education Abroad Program, and the Environmental Health Coalition.
